THE NEW PINK

It's pretty normal to find a sellotape dispenser or a USB hub lying around the office so the person responsible for combining the two is no less than a genius - we all use sellotape and most of us could do with a few extra USB ports after all. The Tape Dispenser With Ports Hub was actually created by Earth-Trek, a company based in Hong Kong and is available in a variety of colours (although this funky red, green, yellow and grey has to be my favourite). You can also put your own company's logo onto it, which I must admit I'm pretty impressed with! Via Shiny Shiny
