The USB Tape Dispenser is definitely one of the quirkier USB devices we've come across so far, featuring a fair number of USB ports (one at the front with another three located behind) tacked onto what is an ordinary looking office stationery. Those who prefer to take the unconventional route and want to stand apart from the crowd can always pick up the USB Tape Dispenser for $24.98. As for me, I'll stick to the standard USB hub, thank you very much.
